CHARMING VISITOR DEPARTS FOR NEW ENGLAND HOME

Miss Cornelia Head, who for several weeks has been the admired guest of one of the season's popular debutantes, Miss Elizabeth Jordan, left on Thursday for her home in Brookline, Mass., for a short stay before joining a party of friends to enjoy skiing in the New Hampshire hills.

Shortly after Miss Head's departure a message came from her mother suggesting that she defer her departure until the end of the season when she will be bound by the blizzard which has swept the East the past day or two.

Memphis Singer Home.

Memphis friends feel particularly proud of this attractive young girl, who received her training right here in Memphis under Mrs. Marie Greenwood Worden, with a few weeks' coaching in Chicago, where she made her debut in a vaudeville, winning immediate success.

CLUBDOM

NINETEENTH CENTURY CLUB LOOKS FORWARD TO ELECTION

The Nineteenth Century club, like all similar organizations, has suspended activities until all fear of the spread of influenza has subsided, when the meetings will be resumed. Members of the executive board of the club held a short meeting on Wednesday morning, Mrs. Robert L. Jordan, acting president, presiding, for a discussion of several important matters.

The funds, which because of the postponement of the various entertainments planned for this month, have not been used by the departments, have been returned to the treasury. It is possible that should the ban on public gatherings be lifted within the next week, that some of these events will take place, but otherwise the members will take up affairs according to the club calendar.

At the meeting of the membership of the club on Feb. 24, the nominating tellers and judges for the annual election, which will take place in April, will be selected.

Though it has not been definitely decided that Mrs. E. G. Williamson, who is now in Florida, will accept the nomination for the office of president, the members have been waiting her word. Mrs. Williamson served as president of the club for two years during the difficult period of the war, and was the unanimous choice of the club at that time, as she will be again should she accept the nomination.

The Nineteenth Century club has never had a more tactful, efficient and popular presiding officer than Mrs. Williamson, and her election would mean much to the club as well as to the club itself.

She has the time and energy, the ability, and her nomination would meet with universal approval.

NO HEAT—NOT FLU, THAT KEEPS TENANTS IN BED

Tenants are forced to stay in bed to keep warm while the repair men go to sleep and the repair man goes to sleep or fishing or Palm Beach or somewhere out of the reach of the rent about driving tenants in a fashionable apartment building on Madison avenue.

For three whole, long, cold days the warm-looking radiators have meant nothing but cold air and the volume of black smoke that usually pours out of the chimney like an eruption of Mount Vesuvius, has been conspicuous by its absence. The coldness of this world has been thrust upon those innocent tenants and unless immediate relief is given them the chances are that the little red cards that adorn so many walls now will find their way in great numbers to this comfortable apartment house.

OFFICER OF FEDERATION TENDERS RESIGNATION

News comes from Chattanooga of the resignation of Mrs. James Martin Trimble, of that city, as vice-president of the Tennessee Federation of Women's Clubs, the reason given being ill-health.

The resignation of the state president, Mrs. Arthur S. Buchanan, of this city, was tendered only last week and it was expected that the duties of the office would be taken over by Mrs. Trimble at least until after the annual meeting, which will be held in Knoxville in the spring.

Since Mrs. Trimble also has resigned it will be necessary to have a meeting of the executive board and elect a new presiding officer.

Mrs. Trimble has been one of the most active and capable workers in the federation, having served upon important committees and as a member of the executive board. It was confidently expected that she would be chosen as the next federation president, and the office goes by relation to the three sections of the state and the choice at the next election would rest with East Tennessee. Mrs. Trimble very naturally would have been the popular choice, as before her marriage to Mr. Trimble she was Mrs. Lulu Calhoun Knabe, of Knoxville, and has a host of friends and admirers throughout the state. She has often been a popular visitor in Memphis and would, without doubt, have received the endorsement of the Memphis club women.

Mrs. Trimble is a very charming woman, a talented vocalist and is gifted with executive ability, making her especially fitted for the office of president, and her resignation particularly regrettable.

The resignation of two such prominent and popular officers as Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Trimble can not but affect the enthusiasm of the members, who had planned for an unusually interesting meeting in Knoxville.

No date has as yet been set for the election of their successors.

Her maid of honor, Miss Gladys Richards, was carried in blue tulle with a hat in harmony, and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Hedges was attended by Mr. Henry Williams, who served as best man.
